GENEALOGIST UNCOVERS UNMARKED JSH GRAVES

FLORENCE HUTCHISON and Michael Hurt, head of the Jacksonville Developmental Center, kneel beside the grave of a Jacksonville State Hospital patient only recently discovered and marked with a stone at Diamond Grove Cemetery. Mrs. Hutchison found an entire section of unmarked graves of Jacksonville State Hospital patients who died in the 19th century.

An entire section of unmarked graves of Jacksonville State Hospital patients has been discovered in the original 40-acre plat of Diamond Grove Cemetery.

Florence Hutchison, a genealogist who has extensively researched local cemetery records, found the section depicted in an old Diamond Grove lot record book.

The section, located in the southwest corner of the cemetery, adjoins the original Potter's Field.

Mrs. Hutchison said the existence of the graves had apparently been forgotten over the years and the Cemetery Board planned to sell lots in the area, in the belief the area had never been used.

About the time she made her discovery, Mrs. Hutchison was contacted by the Rev. Gary L. Moore of Newark, Del., who was looking for information about his great-grandmother, Anna Weiss Von Almen. Moore knew she died at the Jacksonville State Hospital and Mrs. Hutchison was able to locate her grave from the burial date, Feb. 15, 1874.

Last week a gravestone provided by Moore was placed on the grave.

Mrs. Hutchison located two other grave markers in the section but the rest are apparently unmarked.

Cemetery workers, to confirm Mrs. Hutchison's discovery, dug into several sites in the section and found human bones in five of them.

Mrs. Hutchison is working with Chairman Dale Crowcroft and the Cemetery Board to have the section named Immanuel South. Another old Jacksonville State Hospital burial ground, Immanuel North is located at the State Hospital grounds.

Michael Hurt, head of the Jacksonville Developmental Center, has supported Mrs. Hutchison's efforts to preserve and care for the graves of the State Hospital patients.

"They weren't even regarded as people back then," Mrs. Hutchison said sadly as she looked over the expanse of unmarked graves last week.

We have recently helped other family members to install name plates on grave sites of their loved one buried here in Jacksonville.

Jacksonville has one of the most unique histories "of being first" in many past events, from its very beginning. Not only the first college, the first school for the deaf, the blind, but the feeble-minded school housed in Gov. Duncan's mansion 1858-1878. Morgan was the first county to establish a "poor farm" or almshouse in Illinois.

Those accomplishments indicate the kinds of progressive representatives we had in the State Legislature in earlier days, and their work with Dorothea Dix who urged serious consideration of the afflicted condition of an increasing class of mentally disabled individuals.

The Assembly passed a Law in 1847 establishing the Illinois State Hospital for the Insane, opened to accept the first patient, Sophronia McElhiney of McLean County, on November 3, 1851.

Martha Fisher of Morgan was the first patient buried on the campus just south of what we now call Bushnell Building of the Jacksonville Developmental Center.

On May 27, 1992 about 200 persons attended the unveiling of a plaque recognizing this area as Immanuel North, burial site of at least 234 recorded burials from 78 counties, 1852-1879. These were copied from an old cemetery book found by JDC employee Norma Rexroad in 1979, when Florence Hutchison was seeking cemetery records for patients in areas which had only numbered stones in Diamond Grove. This book proved to be on an area bare of any markings on the original hospital grounds.

Application was made October 1990 for one of two historical plaques awarded yearly by the Illinois Transportation Department. On December 1st Florence was asked to meet with the ITD Board of Directors in Springfield. As a result of her plea for a plaque to mark the site of the first state hospital's deceased patients, it was granted and eventually installed on the JDC grounds.

The plaque was unveiled and dedicated under the auspices of Michael A. Hurt, JDC Facility Director, assisted by Chaplains Fred Hammond and Calvin Forman, and Kris McConkey, ITD Supervisor of Springfield. The plaque's final statement reads: "The deceased hereon represent a cross section of various lifestyles, friendships, occupations, religions, races and creeds from families of many nationalities and origins." Amen. [Maybe YOU have a relative thereon.]

IN OUR VIEW

Local historian's efforts bring us closer to humanity

▪ Monument to mental patients is start in righting a longstanding societal wrong

Nothing could be more symbolic than Wednesday's dedication of a state monument to 234 mental patients buried on the grounds of what is now the Jacksonville Developmental Center.

Mental illness was something human society did its best to ignore for centuries. The mentally ill were locked up in secure asylums and kept from the world. Mental illness was frightening and there were few treatments for its sufferers, who were warehoused together by the thousands and largely forgotten by the rest of us.

Even in death the mentally ill were anonymous during the 19th century and the first part of this century here in Jacksonville. Patients who died at the Illinois State Hospital for the Insane, as the JDC was then called, were interred in unmarked graves on the grounds of the hospital.

Thanks to the work of local historian Florence Hutchison, the state is trying to give the estimated thousands of patients buried on the grounds recognition as individual human beings.

Those who were never afforded much dignity in life finally are receiving some in death, thanks to Ms. Hutchison, who has been researching the history of the JDC for years.

Her work has the support of JDC Director Michael Hurt and the rest of the community. Because Jacksonville remains home to the Developmental Center, where today 320 mentally retarded adults live, it is only fitting that the city should help to right a societal wrong done to our most vulnerable citizens years ago. Wednesday's tribute is less symbolic of how far people with mental illnesses have come than of how far the rest of us have come.

Thank you, Ms. Hutchison, for your efforts on behalf of the community, the State of Illinois, and generations of mentally ill people, who at last have been accorded a measure of full citizenship.
